Who Are the Big 4 Accounting Firms?

The Big 4 accounting firms consist of Deloitte, PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC), Ernst & Young (EY), and Klynveld Peat Marwick Goerdeler (KPMG). These firms dominate the accounting and professional services industry globally, providing audit, tax, consulting, and advisory services to a wide range of clients, from large multinational corporations to government entities. Throughout the internship, participants receive feedback and performance evaluations, helping them build critical skills and prepare for potential full-time roles.

Application Process and Requirements

Applying for a Big 4 accounting internship is a competitive process that requires careful preparation and understanding of the firms' expectations. Candidates typically need to meet academic, technical, and interpersonal criteria to be considered for these roles.

Academic Qualifications

in accounting, finance, business, or a related field. A strong academic record, often with a minimum GPA requirement, is essential. Many firms look for candidates who have completed foundational coursework in accounting principles, auditing, taxation, and financial reporting.

Application Components

The application process usually involves submitting a resume, cover letter, and academic transcripts. Some firms require candidates to complete online assessments evaluating technical knowledge, logical reasoning, and situational judgment. Additionally, interviews—both behavioral and technical—are conducted to assess candidates' fit with the firm's culture and their professional competencies.

Important Deadlines and Timelines

Big 4 accounting internships are typically offered during summer months, with application deadlines often occurring as early as the fall or winter before the internship start date.
